Are you confused about how to answer life's big questions when you are no longer part of organized religion?

Are you dealing with sadness or anger after leaving your religious faith?

Are you feeling alienated by religious family members and friends?

Leaving Religion Support Group

We support the ride down your own path.

Leaving Religion Support Group

CFI Okanagan has created a peer support group for people who are in the process of leaving organized religion, for those who have already left it and for those who feel alienated by religious family members.

We have experienced various hardships during our transition and departure from religion; hence, our goal is to provide a supportive environment.

We are not trained counsellors, but are supportive peers who would like to assist people to make their own decisions through listening and sharing personal experiences. We hope that we can provide a sense of community and help others have a better sense of fulfilment in life.

If you are interested in more information, please go to our site and contact us
via our confidential contact form.
We respect your privacy and your inquiry will only go to the Leaving Religion Coordinator

http://cfiokanagan.ca/programs/leaving-religion/

The Centre for Inquiry (CFI) Okanagan based in Kelowna is one branch of CFI Canada.

CFI Canada is a registered educational charity with the mandate to educate and provide training to the public in the application of skeptical, atheist, secular, rational and humanistic enquiry through conferences, symposia, lectures, published works and the maintenance of a library.

We are a community of freethinking people who put on social events, workshops, conferences and work to promote critical thinking and evidence based reasoning in Canada and abroad for greater community and cooperation.

